

Six Sigma Black Belt (4 Days)

Australian
Organisation for Quality - Queensland
(AOQ-QLD)

Six Sigma is a business process improvement strategy focusing on achieving measurable and quantifiable financial returns from any improvement project through the removal of waste and variation.

The Black Belt training is the third course in the Sigma Six series. This qualification provides delegates with the skills and competencies to establish themselves as Lean Six Sigma (LSS) experts capable of delivering and managing LSS projects successfully. Delegates will be introduced to a variety of tools they can use to analyse and identify where business developments should occur. The course produces efficient managers who possess extensive analytical skills allowing them to determine appropriate resolutions to business problems.
